Rainmaker names AMP Capital Core Infrastructure Fund as best new product

Last night the AMP Capital Core Infrastructure Fund was named the Best New Investment Product of the Year, by financial research and media group, Rainmaker.

Launched at the end of October 2007, the AMP Capital Core Infrastructure Fund invests in a globally diversified portfolio of listed and unlisted infrastructure assets to provide retail investors with the potential for stable income, liquidity and long term capital growth. The Fund has now achieved fund inflows of $125 million.

AMP Capital Investors Portfolio Manager Mar Beltran said: "Being named Best New Investment Product of the Year reinforces AMP Capital's strength in innovative product packaging that combines listed and unlisted asset exposures and our ability to give retail investors access to investments that have previously been the domain of institutional investors and superannuation funds."

AMP Capital Investors structured the Fund to comprise a strategic blend of 50 per cent listed infrastructure securities and 50 per cent unlisted infrastructure assets to provide investors with a higher level of liquidity than is generally associated with a portfolio of purely unlisted infrastructure assets and reduced volatility compared with a portfolio comprised wholly of listed infrastructure securities.

The AMP Capital Core Infrastructure Fund aims to provide investors with income and capital growth while managing risk through diversification. The Fund offers a diverse portfolio of infrastructure assets, ranging from airports and toll roads, aged care, to power transmission and distribution and water both in Australia and globally.

"Our infrastructure investment criteria means we seek assets that offer cash flow stability with potential for capital growth. Assets that provide essential services, exhibit a sustainable competitive advantage, operate under regulatory regimes or long term supply agreements with low counterparty risk tend to have predictable long term revenue, which is generally linked to inflation," Ms Beltran said.
