Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Performance is annualised for periods greater than one year.

Total returns are calculated using the unit price which uses the net asset values for the relevant month end. This price may differ from the actual unit price for an investor applying for or redeeming an investment. Actual unit prices will be confirmed following any transaction by an investor. Returns quoted are before tax, after Class 'H' fees and costs, assume all distributions are reinvested and are annualised for periods greater than one year.

Performance and Activity

Performance in December was supported by the large underweight position in Newcrest Mining (we avoid it for ESG reasons) after it released a disappointing production outlook. Overweight positions in relative defensive stocks, Telstra and Australian Infrastructure Fund, were also key positive contributors to relative performance.

The largest drag on relative performance for the fund came from Kathmandu Holdings after it issued an earnings downgrade. The Fund's overweight position in Flight Centre suffered from collateral damage. Underweight positions in Woolworths (we avoid it for ESG reasons) and Commonwealth Bank were also significant factors behind the relative underperformance during December.

During December, the Fund trimmed its risk exposure through a combination of trades, bringing the beta of the portfolio back closer to neutral. Key additions to the portfolio were made in Leighton Holdings, Coca-Cola Amatil, SAI Global, CSL and Stockland. Stocks where exposure was reduced during the month included NRW Holdings, Challenger, Charter Hall Metcash and Duet.

The Fund remains favourably exposed to momentum and value factors that have been shown to support relative investment performance.

ESG Research and Engagement

In December we met with the chairman of Orica and discussed the board's approach to process safety risk, CEO succession planning and remuneration structure. We also met with Fairfax Media to discuss employee engagement and other sustainability drivers as part of our ongoing review of the media sector. Some of the main sustainability drivers that media companies are facing include convergence of media technologies, commoditisation of news and regulatory change. In addition, there is more focus on journalistic standards following the closure of News of the World in the UK.

During the month we also met with Pacific Brands to discuss its supply chain management. Pacific Brands is the only Australian signatory to the Ethical Trading Initiative, which is a coalition of unions, NGOs and companies to improve labour conditions for workers. Having a robust ethical sourcing framework is important in order to avoid brand damage. Also, happy workers tend to be more productive workers and analysis shows that worker exploitation has a poor risk/reward ratio.

Finally, we met with the management of Metcash and discussed why the uptake of 'green consumerism' has been relatively slow in Australia compared to, for example, Europe. Management also provided insight about the company's health and safety risk management systems and what the company will do to improve its injury performance.

Market commentary

Australian shares experienced ongoing volatility during the quarter as global share markets fluctuated in response to the ongoing sovereign debt issues in Europe. Australian shares rebounded early in the quarter with hope of a plan to address the European crisis and were given an additional lift by heightened expectations for an interest rate cut. Australian shares fell back in November in line with the global trend. The best performing sectors were Utilities (+8.1%), Telecommunication Services (+6.9%) and Industrials (+6.9%). The star performers of the Utilities sector were Hastings Diversified (+34.3%) and Energy World Corporation (+33.0%), while APA Group (+15.1%) was the best performer in the Utilities sector. The worst performing sectors were Materials (-3.1%) and Consumer Staples (-2.9%). White Energy (-74.3%) and OneSteel (-43.5%) detracted the most from the Materials sector while the Consumer Staples sector was dragged lower by Goodman Fielder (-9.4%) and Wesfarmers (-6.6%).

Outlook

The outlook for Australian shares is relatively more favourable than their global counterparts thanks to a combination of better fundamentals in Australia and the likelihood of further interest rate cuts following the Reserve Bank of Australia's rate cut in December. We expect the Australian S&P/ASX 200 index to rise to around 4800 by the end of 2012.
