

AMP High Growth Fund

The AMP High Growth Fund aims to provide high capital growth over the long term with some income, primarily through exposure to growth assets.

AMP Capital's innovative approach to diversification

AMP Capital's approach creates diversified portfolios by combining varied sources of performance – the key to good long term investing. AMP Capital believes the three key sources are:

- Active management of portfolios' allocations to different markets and sectors to suit changing short, medium and long term investment environments and conditions.
- Investment techniques that have consistently performed over long periods, such as active stock selection for Australian shares.
- Addition of new opportunities for investment (such as global listed property securities, private equity and commodities) which have the potential to add substantial and consistent value over the medium to long term.

The AMP High Growth Fund's strategic and tactical asset allocation are actively managed by Dr Shane Oliver and his team to suit changing investment environments and conditions.
